FOREWORD

The importance of working with adjoining county records in either family or historical research has been realized by every researcher.

The 36 cemeteries included in this, our fourth volume, are only some of the important cemeteries which are found in the border area of Greenville and Spartanburg Counties. There are many other family, private and church cemeteries with very early and valuable information in the eastern part of Greenville County, western part of Spartanburg County and upper Laurens County. These will be published in a future volume.

The inscriptions in this volume were from both family and church cemeteries located in the eastern and northeastern sections of Greenville County, with two important locations in Spartanburg County. Family or private cemeteries from various sections of the county were used also.

Again, every effort has been made to avoid mistakes.
